

Anheuser Busch

Building and Energy Solutions

The Anheuser Busch brewery in Cartersville, GA, encompasses nine acres under its facility's roof. This facility has many areas that are critical for the company's production process.

After using a variety of companies for mechanical services, the brewery's personnel determined that they needed a fresh approach and asked a select few firms to provide them with their best program options.

ABM provides a turn-key, comprehensive preventive maintenance program for Anheuser Busch that includes the cost for parts, repairs and labor. The program provides accountability, improved comfort conditions and proper system maintenance. Additionally, a full-time ABM technician reports to the brewery 40-hours per week. Other services include the design, engineering and installation of mechanical systems for improved comfort and air quality.
