

Creating Options for K-12 Leaders

Protect Funds Needed for Student Achievement

To meet funding reductions from COVID-19's impact on state and local tax revenues, district leaders have limited options. Mandated spending remains locked and previous rounds of budget-tightening leave few easy decisions on the table.

There are ways to avoid fund balance depletion and protect educational priorities, if communities can get help with general fund optimization. ABM projects help schools direct spending to today's priorities, like making schools safer, paying for needed upgrades, and achieving general fund relief.

We go beyond standard energy projects, creating options that help districts put money back where schools need it most. Our guaranteed energy savings and professional service agreements give district leaders tools they can use to focus funding on improving student outcomes.
